

Hope Valley College, a comprehensive school in the Peak District, Derbyshire is seeking a passionate and talented Head of School to lead the school.

The appointment is made initially to Hope Valley College, which is a single academy trust. However, the Governing Body has agreed that Hope Valley College will join Chorus Education Trust – a growing, local trust founded in Sheffield, that cherishes both aspiration and inclusion. This is due to happen imminently.

Head of School

Pay scale: Leadership 20 to 24

Full time, permanent.

Required to start September 2019

Hope Valley College is a school at the very heart of its local community. Its buildings sit within the village of Hope in the stunning surroundings of the Derbyshire Peak District and are a focal point for local activities. The Hope Valley is around 11 miles from the city of Sheffield, with a local community made up of a number of rural villages.

The school has over 570 students, with a small number within a post-16 provision for students who have SEN and/or disabilities.

Following an Ofsted judgement in December 2017, the school was under temporary leadership from February 2018. The GCSE results have since improved and the governing body is now seeking a new leader who can build upon this and ensure Hope Valley College becomes the outstanding school it has the potential to be.
